1. Datta was the owner of modern frame works shop. he was the silent person and a hardworking person. his shop was situated between radio repair shop and a drug store. He discouraged casual friends and ideal gossips. the shop where he sat surrounded with cardboard, bits of glasses which were required for his work. the wall of his shop was covered with pictures of god saints, children, monalisa etc. One day a man with sepia brown photograph comes to the shop. to frame the photograph. the

It was of old man. he could probably be the grand father, a philanthropist, or a social worker of the Customer. he was only sacred to the Customer. But not for Datta. Datta asked the Customer about what type of frame did he wanted and explained various types of frames. the Customer was Confused. Datta explained that the frames were German imported. so the Customer agreed and asked for a oval shape frame. Datta asked the Customer to come back after 2 weeks. After few days later a tall man with rustic figure came to the shop asking whether the frame was ready. Datta told the Customer that it would be ready on tuesday. as soon as the Customer Datta started searching for a photo and after finding it - he began his work. while he was working the pencil stuff fell somewhere. And Datta started finding it. after searching for a long time Datta grew impatiently and as a result he shook the folds of his dhoti. Because of this, the white enamel containing in a tin fell into the photograph of the old man. Datta was stunned and desperate not knowing what to do. Datta started wiping the photograph with cloth as a result the coating of the photograph started to come out. Datta clutched his head. he remembered the photograph of the old man which he had before. he opened the box. the box was filled with dust and spiders, cockroaches started coming out of it. Datta did not care it. and go on searched the photographs which could match the photograph given by the customer. There were photographs of oldman with photo vase, grand children sitting on the laps. but there was one such photo which was similar to the photograph given by the Customer. Datta took the photograph framed it and made the corrections in it but he framed the photograph with wrong one. This was the way how he ~~overcome~~ <sup>overcame</sup> across the trouble faced by him.
